Opens property branch in Houston

Aon Benfield has opened a facultative property branch in Houston, with Andrea Mulvey appointed to the team as an associate director.

The reinsurance broker said Mulvey will also help strengthen Aon's US facultative energy practice. She previously worked for Aon Risk Solutions.

Aon Benfield has also announced the appointment of Justin Conway to its Midwest property facultative team, also as associate director. Conway previously served as facultative property broker at JLT Re, and before that worked for Willis as a terrorism specialist.

The addition of Mulvey and Conway follows the appointments of Jackie Bolig and Michael Hughes – as senior managing director and managing director respectively – within Aon Benfield's US business earlier this year.
